

DYNAMIZU26 End User License Agreement

Dynamita SAS 2011-2026

Please read this document carefully before using DYNAMIZU. It tells you that Dynamita owns the rights to DYNAMIZU, that you can use it under the agreed conditions, and that Dynamita's liability is limited.

If you use DYNAMIZU, you acknowledge understanding this information and agree to these conditions.

- The IP and copyright belong to Dynamita SAS:

Dynamita certifies that it owns all rights to the DYNAMIZU software. Supporting software (such as operating system, Excel, 3rd party libraries and others) are required and are the responsibility of the user.

- Dynamita gives you the right to use it:

In exchange for the agreed compensation and in accordance with agreed terms, Dynamita provides the license to you to use DYNAMIZU for its intended purpose. If you have a license, it can be used worldwide (e.g. network licenses). The user can share their own results with any third party desired.

- We make our best effort for DYNAMIZU to work properly:

Dynamita uses its best judgement, best coding practices and best available information at the time of the preparation of the software and strives to fix any bugs that may slip in inadvertently in the shortest time possible.

- Our liability is limited:

Dynamita is not responsible for any damages which are caused by the improper use of this software or by not using the software. In any event, our liability is limited to the amount of the license fee paid by the user in the time-period (usually one year) concerned.

- Data:

The DYNAMIZU application does not store data on external servers, nor in the cloud, unless expressly specified and set up by the user.

By using DYNAMIZU you agree that we can display your company name on our website and in marketing material - please email us if you don't agree and we will respect your decision.
